NATIONAL LIBRARY WEEK

APRIL 7-13

Every year in April, libraries across the country observe National Library Week in order to celebrate the contributions of libraries and library staff and to promote library use and support. We've decided to join the fun!

Follow along on social media as we showcase the people and services that support our library's mission, and stay tuned for other happenings as National Library Week draws closer.

Special Events

Book Character Costume Party

Will you be Pete the Cat or a Hogwarts student? How about Dog Man or Roller Girl? Celebrate National Library Week and dress as your favorite book character! We'll have crafts and activities inspired by the worlds in our favorite books! All ages.

Tues., Apr. 9 4:30-5:30

James and the Giant Peach

Celebrate National Library Week and join us for this exciting musical show. Presented by American Eagle Productions, James and the Giant Peach brings Roald Dahl's book to life and teaches the life lessons of loyalty and friendship. All ages.

Weds., Apr. 10 7:00-7:45 Tickets available Mar. 15.

Did You Know...?

- Addison Public Library was recognized in 2018 as one of Illinois' 200 Great Places, which showcases the best of Illinois architecture.
- There are more public libraries than Starbucks in the U.S., a total of 16,568! (American Library Association, 2019)
- In 2018, we had an average of 700 visitors per day who attended programs, used our specialized databases, and borrowed our materials.
- In 2016, 1.4 billion people visited public libraries across the U.S., which is the equivalent of about 2,664 visits per minute! (American Library Association, 2019)
- 113 million people attended programs at public libraries in 2016. That's more than all MLB, NFL, and NBA games combined! (American Library Association, 2019)

It's Not Like It's a Secret* by Misa Sugiura

Sana has secrets, and her family's move across the country only makes them harder to keep. How can she convince her parents and her new friends that she's not in love with Jamie, the girl from the cross country team, when Jamie is all she can think about? And what if someone else finds out about her father's affair before Sana has a chance to confront him about it? When keeping her secrets and her home/school/girlfriend lives separate begins to be too much for Sana, she has to decide who she trusts with the truth. For fans of Becky Albertalli and To All the Boys I've Loved Before.

Empress of All Seasons* by Emiko Jean

When the land of Honoku needs a new empress, all eligible women compete for the title and for Prince Taro's hand in marriage. To win, a competitor must survive the enchanted seasonal rooms—a challenge Mari has trained for since childhood despite being ineligible as yōkai, a second class supernatural being. Mari doesn't care about the rules or the prince—she competes for the power of being empress, and to bring change to Honoku. Prince Taro doesn't care about his power, and doesn't enjoy being a prize to be won—he would rather spend time in his lab with his mechanical inventions. Together, Mari and Taro could be allies, if they can trust each other when their identities and motivations are revealed. Inspired by the author's Japanese heritage, Empress of All Seasons questions the sacrifices made for duty and love, and challenges the notion of tradition as a value to be upheld.

Friends of the Library Magazine Sale Coming in March

The Friends' Annual Magazine Sale will take place during the first or second week of March. Magazines are sold for just $1.00/bundle, and all proceeds support the Friends of the Library. The sale will run for a week, or until all the magazines are sold.

Through their fundraising efforts, the Friends support the library by donating funds and volunteer hours. Some of the projects they have supported include:

- Artwork & decorations
- Library-wide events
- Library Cards for All
- Helping us launch our video game collection
- Furniture replacement

“The Friends also support things that are not covered by tax dollars, like purchasing exciting summer reading prizes or recognizing staff when they retire,” said Trish Schumacher, APL’s staff liaison to the Friends. “They help make things extra special.”
