Staff Picks

No Talking by Andrew Clements

The competition between boys and girls has never been this extreme - a group of fifth graders challenge each other to see who can go the longest without speaking. This is a challenge in itself as this class is known for always being the loudest in the school. A fun and quick read that teaches a lesson by the end.

The Treasure of Maria Mamoun by Michelle Chalfoun

When Maria and her mother move from the Bronx to Martha's Vineyard, Maria's lonely life gets turned upside down. Now her mother only has to work one job, Maria is free to roam in a safe and beautiful place, and she is even making friends. But soon, it seems that the only way she will be able to stay in this wonderful place is to find a centuries-old pirate treasure. Suddenly, this girl from the city is on a swashbuckling, sailing adventure – how will Maria's story end?

There's Nothing to Lose!

The children's read along collection has a new format! Vox audio-enabled books.

Vox books include a small MP3 player, with an audio reading of the story, that is attached to the cover of a hardcover picture book. While the Vox audio will work with headphones, it also has an internal speaker so headphones or earbuds are not necessary!

The player is permanently affixed to the book so it can't get lost. The rechargeable batteries are permanently installed. Our initial collection includes 12 picture book titles, with new titles coming out soon. Find them in our Read Along collection directly above the LeapReaders.

Math MANIA (30 minutes): Grades 1-5. During your 30-minute session you can work on addition, subtraction, multiplication, or division. Please specify which skill you're interested in reviewing when you make your appointment. Please note: We will be focusing on general math skills, not specific assignments.

1,000 Books Before Kindergarten

The concept is simple, the rewards are priceless. Read a book (any book) to your newborn, infant, and/or toddler. The goal is to have read 1,000 books (yes you can repeat books) before your precious one starts kindergarten.

For every 100 books read, children earn a prize. Once a child finishes 1,000 books, they can pick out a book to take home and keep, have their photo taken, and attend a graduation party at the library.

Give us a call at 630.458.3338 or stop by for more information!

Having a Blast with Vocab

Come by the library on a Wednesday after school and you're likely to hear teens using some surprisingly sophisticated words.

"The boy was INTREPID when he confronted the bully," one girl might say. "I need a break from my MUNDANE life," you might hear a boy complain. That's because every Wednesday at the library is "Word Wednesday."

Teen librarians select an SAT word to highlight each week, complete with a definition and examples.

We love seeing these groups struggle with the new words together because we know that using words over and over again, especially with your friends, is one of the best ways for teens to learn.

The library and Indian Trail's Language Arts teachers are trying out a new way to reinforce the vocabulary. Language Arts teachers will try to use the words in the classroom as often as they can. If students come back to the library with the sentence their teacher used, they can earn another candy.

Families can participate, too! If a child in your family hangs out at the library after school, be sure to ask them what the word of the week is.

Let them explain it to you and see if you can come up with some examples together. You can even make it into a game. Who can use the word the most times this week?

Walking around with a bowl of candy, librarians give out a prize to any student that can correctly use the word in a sentence.

Most of the time it takes several tries to get it right and groups of friends work to help everyone get a candy.

Teen Art Studio

Fri., Nov. 17, 3:30-4:30: Pop Art Portraits

Fri., Dec. 1, 3:30-4:30: Watercolor Wonderland

Find your inner artist with our new monthly Art Studio for teens. We'll provide everything you need to learn to draw manga, paint like Van Gogh, or build a wire sculpture. No experience is necessary and all materials are provided. We can only guarantee seats to kids that sign up in advance, but always stop by to see if there's an extra seat.

For all teen programs, call 630.458.3317 or visit our website.

NOVEMBER IS NATIONAL NOVEL WRITING MONTH

(NANOWRIMO)

National Novel Writing Month presents writers with the goal of writing a novel of at least 50,000 words between Nov. 1 and Nov. 30.

Everyone 13 years and older can sign up for a NaNoWriMo account and get access to a writing community, encouragement from publisher authors, and help plotting his or her novel at nanowrimo.org.

Not to worry, there's plenty of opportunities for kids to get involved, including the NaNoWriMo Young Writer's Program, where participants 17 & under can sign up for their own account. Educators and families can sign up too!

Here at the library, we have tons of resources to get you started writing, including how-tos, stories about great writers, and more!

For more information on library resources, call (630.458.3338) or visit (addisonlibrary.org).

Have an idea for a book?

Do you have an idea in your head for a book but don't know where to start? Start at the Addison Public Library!

The library has an online product called Pressbooks that allows you to either directly word process as you create your book or upload a pre-existing book and then edit and design digital and print copies.

Pressbooks will even help you organize chapters, edit text, add bibliographies, introductions or prefaces, choose a cover design and more.

Set up a one-on-one appointment by calling 630.458.3320.

PB PRESSBOOKS

Celebrate our local authors!

You may not realize it, but we have published authors living right in our area and the Addison Library has copies of their books to check out.

Kelley Kitley has a new biography about growing up in Chicago called MYW Self: An Autobiography of Survival.

Luisa Buehler writes the Grace Madsen mystery series. She describes Grace as "an amateur sleuth who is obsessive compulsive--think Monk in a skirt!"

Ted Gregory lives in Elmhurst and has written a nonfiction book called Mary Jane's Ghost which centers on a lovers lane double murder that occurred in Oregon, Illinois, in 1948.

Support your local authors by coming in and checking out their books!

Attention Authors!

Submit your book to Library Journal through the Addison Public Library.

Using the SELF-e program from our website, you can submit your book for review to one of the premier reviewing sources, Library Journal.

Professional reviewers will preview your book and, if selected, it will be made available alongside other great indie reads in participating libraries throughout the U.S. and Canada in the SELF-e section of Biblioboard, at no cost to you!

You've spent your valuable time writing your book, now use the library to get exposure and build your readership!

Call 630.458.3318 if you need assistance setting this up or if you'd like one-on-one help.

Before We Were Yours by Lisa Wingate

Every family has its hidden secrets; Avery Stafford is determined to uncover those her grandmother has kept for decades. But the truth is much more shocking than she could have possibly imagined. Based on one of America's most infamous scandalous – Wingate sheds light on Georgia Tann's unethical adoption practices and its devastating consequences for thousands of families.

Eleanor Oliphant is completely fine by Gail Honeyman

A beautiful and profound story of socially awkward 31-year-old Eleanor who slowly learns to live for the first time, all because she is forced to help an old man who fell on the sidewalk. Slowly, she comes to realize the meaning of empathy, gentleness, friendship, which had not existed in her childhood.

A Man Called Ove by Fredrik Backman

This book made me smile, chuckle, and laugh. Ove is a grumpy old man surrounded by weird people. The people are stubborn and peculiar but still lovable and good-hearted. Witness Ove evolving from a grouch to a considerate human being. This book is easy to read and fast-paced with a very satisfying ending!

America Recycles Day is Nov. 15!

The Addison Public Library is committed to being a modern, green facility (We even received an award from SCARCE, an environmental group that works to educate the public and build sustainable communities, for our building!) so we have decided to celebrate with a new pop-up!

If you loved the planetarium this summer, we hope you will join us in November to make a Chihuly-inspired sculpture out of recycled materials. Dale Chihuly is an American glass sculptor, known for very large blown-glass sculptures. You can see his work nearby at the Garfield Park Conservatory "Persian Pool" or at the Milwaukee Art Museum.

Be on the lookout in November for more specific dates. We have been collecting clear plastic bottles throughout October for the project. We hope you will join us by either donating clean, clear, empty plastic bottles and/or helping to build this community art!

Attendance at library programs, events and participating in any library activity constitutes consent to be photographed for Addison Public Library promotional purposes.
