

NEW JOB TOOLKIT

Top Job Search Websites

indeed.com

A comprehensive job listings aggregator and search engine, Indeed grabs listings from all over the Internet and puts them in one place. You can search by job title and location, as well as upload your résumé.

monster.com

One of the most popular job websites, Monster allows you to search by job title, skills, or keywords and location. You can also upload your résumé for employers to peruse, get career advice and sign up to receive emails from Monster with potential new job matches.

careerbuilder.com

Another major site, CareerBuilder aggregates jobs from "more than 9,000 websites, including 140 newspapers and broadband portals such as MSN and AOL." Job searchers can also post résumés, receive job recommendations and peruse advice.

usajobs.gov

The U.S. government's official site for federal job listings nationwide.

idealist.org

If you're trying to be the change you want to see in the world, Idealist is the job search engine for you. It has job postings exclusively from nonprofit organizations.

simplyhired.com

This site promises a simple but effective job search, plus information on salaries and job trends in your area.

higheredjobs.com

This site allows you to search faculty, staff, and executive positions at a variety of colleges and universities.

collegerecruiter.com

CollegeRecruiter.com is the top career site for college and university students searching for internships and recent graduates hunting for entry-level jobs, work, employment, continuing education, and business opportunities.

flexjobs.com

Since 2007, FlexJobs has been the #1 job site for finding the best remote, work-from-home, and flexible jobs. With extensive experience, we specialize in helping job seekers navigate the remote job market with confidence.

npo.net

NPO.net is a full-featured job board for nonprofits and certain government agencies (such as city offices and companies that provide the majority of their services to the nonprofit community) that desire to find staff with community service experience. NPO.net is always free for job seekers and cost affordable for agencies seeking to post jobs.

socialservice.com

SocialService.com is the job site for social work, counseling, psychology, mental health, case management, EAP, volunteer management, substance abuse treatment, domestic violence, community development, youth development, child welfare, developmental disabilities, and all other areas of social services.

upwork.com

A large marketplace of freelancers and freelance employers, Upwork lists gigs in areas including programming, design, writing, virtual assistants, internet research, and more. Upwork's success as a marketplace is due to its escrow service, provider rating system, and global reach.

onetonline.org

O*NET Online has detailed descriptions of the world of work for use by job seekers, workforce development and HR professionals, students, researchers, and more!

careeronestop.org

The One-Stop Career Center has links to information on searches, resumes, interviewing, education, and training.

salary.com

Great resource for researching careers and learning.